

CALL FOR PAPERS

24th ANNUAL MACRO CONFERENCE

The 24th Macro Conference will be held hybrid on November 19-20, 2022. It will be an in-person meeting in Tokyo joined by online participants. Presenters and discussants are warmly encouraged to attend the in-person meeting, if the situation allows, to maximize our chance to have a lively and in-depth discussion. Note, however, that the meeting format is subject to change depending on the spread of the infection.

You are cordially invited to submit a research paper for presentation at the conference:

- Papers should be written either in English or Japanese.
- There is no specific theme for the conference; however, we especially welcome studies (theoretical or empirical) that address issues confronting the Japanese economy.
- In the selection process, there is a possibility that priority will be given to young researchers/graduate students when choosing among papers of comparable quality.
- Full papers are preferred but a 10-page abstract is also acceptable. If your acceptance is based on a 10-page abstract, then your full paper should be submitted to all members of the program committee, and designated discussants, by Friday, November 11, 2022 (Japan time).
- Please recommend two candidates for discussants (it is not necessary to obtain their prior consent).
- Papers should be sent by simultaneous email to all members of the program committee as listed below.
- Even when your paper is written/presented in English, we allow the audience to ask questions or make comments in Japanese (one of us will translate them for you, if necessary).

Deadline: Friday, September 30, 2022 (Japan time)

Acceptance Notification: Approximately Wednesday, October 19, 2022.

We look forward to receiving many interesting submissions.
